

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. ELPHINSTONE'S (Hon. M.) CABUL and its Dependencies in Persia, Tartary, and India, comprising a View of the Affghan Nation, &c. map and coloured portrait, 2 vols. 8vo. cloth, 8s. 6d. (pub. £1. 8s.) 1842

"Every reader will see that the writer of this work is a man of enlarged views and masculine understanding, whose principal object is to tell what he has seen or thought as clearly and briefly as he can, his style is clear, precise, manly, and always perfectly unaffected."—Edinburgh Review.

FISH AND FISHING—FORSTER'S (Frank) Fish and Fishing of the United States and British Provinces of North America, by H. W. Herbert, illustrated with upwards of 40 beautiful woodcuts, 8vo. new cloth, 5s. 6d. (pub. 16s.) 1849

FORESTER'S (Frank) FIELD SPORTS in the United States and the British Provinces of America, 2 vols. post 8vo. cloth, 5s. 6d. (pub. £1. 1s.) 1848

FOSBROKE'S (Rev. T. D.) Author of the Encyclopedia of Antiquities, &c. Rules relating to the Scenery and Antiquities incident to Travellers, including an Epitome of GILPIN'S Principles of the Picturesque, fm. 8vo. bds. 2s. 6d. (pub. at 7s.) 1826

"As the Encyclopedia of Antiquities was intended to facilitate a general acquisition of Archæology, so this has for its object the dissemination, in a cheap form, of the Picturesque, and the Antiquities incident to Travellers; the result of which will, it is hoped, enable the Tourist to have a higher enjoyment of his excursive pleasures, and the Topographer to enliven the heaviness of description by tasteful and interesting additions."—Preface.

FOSBROKE'S (Rev. T. D.) Picturesque and Topographical Account of Cheltenham, and its vicinity, to which are added contributions towards the Medical History of the Waters by Dr. John Fosbroke, 12mo. sewed, 2s. (pub. 5s.) 1826

The object of this work is to give some literary character to the accounts of Cheltenham, by treating the subject according to the rules of great authorities in Scenery and Archæology.

HOOKE'S (W. J.) JOURNAL OF A TOUR IN ICELAND during the Summer of 1809, maps and plates, 2 vols. 8vo. bds. 4s. 1813

"I trust that I am equally satisfying my own confidence and the good taste of the public, when I give my unqualified recommendation of this work."—Dublin.

JAMES' (G. P. R.) HISTORY OF THE LIFE OF EDWARD the Black Prince, and of various events connected therewith, which occurred during the Reign of Edward III. King of England, map, 2 vols. 12mo. bds. 2s. 6d. 1839

"We know no one to whom we could refer the student for more popular historical information than to Mr. James. His accuracy both as to facts and the deductions flowing from them, may be relied on."—Athenæum.

JAMES' (G. P. R.) HISTORY OF THE LIFE OF RICHARD, Cœur-de-Lion, King of England, 4 vols. 8vo. new cloth, 8s. 6d. (pub. £2. 16s.) 1842-49

"Mr. James's characters are drawn with the utmost attention to existing records. The events are industriously studied so as to bear the stamp of historic truth, and the very landscapes are painted with that fidelity which an artist only can bestow."—Monthly Review.

KAYE'S (J. W.) HISTORY OF THE WAR IN AFFGHANISTAN, new edition revised and corrected, 3 vols. fcap. 8vo. new cloth, 8s. 6d. (pub. 15s.) 1857

KNIGHT'S (H. GALLY) ARCHITECTURAL TOUR in Normandy, with some Remarks on Norman Architecture, 1 vol. 1841—Normans in Sicily, being a Sequel to the Architectural Tour, 1 vol. 1838, together 2 vols. post 8vo. cloth, 5s. 6d. (pub. 18s.) 1838-41

 "His sermons are matchless; his periods are so full and exuberant, as to give no inadequate representation of the eloquence of Cicero. He exhausts every subject which he undertakes to discuss, leaving nothing but admiration of the fertility of his mind to the writers who follow him upon the same topics. His sermons display to the greatest advantage the energy of his intellectual powers, employed upon the most important subjects."—Kett.

602 NOVUM TESTAMENTUM GRÆCUM, ELZEVIIR EDITION, 18mo. old red morocco, gilt edges, 10s. 6d. Lugd. Bat. 1624

This is the first of the celebrated Elzevir editions, and deserves (says Bishop Marsh) to be particularly noticed, because the text of the Greek Testament, which had fluctuated, during more than a century, in the preceding editions, acquired in this edition a consistency, which it has retained to the present day. In this edition was established the Greek Text, which is now in daily use, and is known by the name of the Textus receptus.

"These 'Sketches from Life,' are valuable additions to the library of modern literature. As Addison and Steele reflected their own generations, so has Laman Blanchard in his Sketches mirrored forth the variable and motley peculiarities of the present day; they have but to be read to be admired. Let all lovers of our British essayists, all worshippers of our Goldsmiths, our Lambs and our Hawkesworths, add these three volumes to their previous collection. Sir Edward Bulwer Lytton's memoir will be read with much interest."—Sun.

- "These volumes contain much valuable matter."—Times.
- "In these volumes, details, then guarded with the most anxious care from all eyes but those of the privileged few, are now for the first time given to the public. The most secret history of many of the transactions is laid bare. It is not possible to conceive contemporary history more completely exemplified. From such materials it was not possible to form a work that would not possess the very highest interest. The Duke of Buckingham has, however, moulded his materials with no ordinary ability and skill. The connecting narrative is written both with judgment and vigour—not unfrequently in a style which comes up to the highest order of historical composition—especially in some of the sketches of personal character. There is scarcely a single individual of celebrity throughout the period from 1783 to 1800 who is not introduced into these pages; amongst others, besides the King and the various members of the royal family, are Rockingham, Shelburne, North, Thurlow, Loughborough, Fox, Pitt, Sheridan, Burke, Portland, Sydney, Fitzwilliam, Tierney, Buckingham, Grenville, Grey, Malmesbury, Wilberforce, Burdett, Fitzgibbon, Grattan, Flood, Cornwallis, the Beresfords, the Wellesleys, &c."—Herald.
- "These memoirs are among the most valuable materials for history that have recently been brought to light out of the archives of any of our great families."—Examiner.

"Cowper is the poet of a well-educated and well-principled Englishman. 'Home, sweet home,' is the scene—limited as it may be imagined—in which he contrives to concentrate a thousand beauties, which others have scattered far and wide upon objects of less interest and attraction. His pictures are, if I may so speak, conceived with all the tenderness of Raffaele, and executed with all the finish and sharpness of Teniers. No man, in such few words, tells his tale, or describes his scene, so forcibly and so justly."—Diddin.

memorable dignitary of the Church, when esiding over one of the largest clerical in the kingdom, thus expressed himself new work:—"I cannot express to you in sufficient thankfulness and admiration
ings with which a new work on the excel-our truly apostolic Church has lately been by me. I now cordially recommend this the attentive consideration of every one and I hope you will tell it out among the our neighbourhood, that it is worthy their attention. Dissent will cover before it; will go more tenderly—and both will see extension of pure religion, in unitedness and voice, is the main aim of its pages."

- "* This splendid and very interesting series is engraved in the highest style of art, on steel, in the same manner as Lodge's Portraits, with which work it competes for superiority. The portraits being different in the two collections, they form desirable companions. The present work is the only one of its class which contains highly finished Foreign portraits on an extensive scale, and as these are generally of characters almost as familiar to us as those of our own country, they mix well with the English worthies, and form a diversified and interesting field of contemplation. The biographical Sketches, it is well known, are powerfully written."

- Printed for Nicholas Ling, 1600
- *. Bindley's Copy sold for £3. 14s.
- Although bearing an earlier date than Every Man in his Humour, it was composed afterwards, and appears to be the SECOND Play of the celebrated dramatist. Every Man out of his Humour was, however, well received. "Queen Elizabeth (Davies says) drawn by its fame, honoured the play with her presence; and Jonson, to pay a respectful compliment to his sovereign, altered the conclusion of his play into an elegant panegyric. Mr. Collins, the poet, first pointed out to me the peculiar beauty of this address." That Elizabeth was pleased cannot be doubted; she was, indeed, among the first encouragers of the youthful poet.

- 5124 SHEBBEARE (Dr.)—The History of the Excellence and Decline of the Constitution, Religion, Laws, Manners, and Genius of the Sumatrans, 2 vols. in 1, 8vo. calf, 12s. VERY SCARCE. 1763
 It is singular that the name of the Author appears on the titlepage of the 2nd vol. only. The Book is not mentioned by Chalmers, in his Biographical Dictionary, under the name of Dr. Shebbear, nor does Lowndes mention it.—It is mentioned by Watt as an Historical work on Sumatra. This Work is a sort of imitation, of Utopia, containing an Account of England under assumed names.

 "Brave JOHN SHIPP! Excellent JOHN SHIPP! Had it but been thy lot to have been born on the shore opposite to that on which thy poor mother left thee, thou hadst been by this time Monsieur le Marechal de Shipp, Duc de Bhurstport, or d' Huttras; but, as fate ordained it, while Junot and Bernadotte were rising from post to post, and from honour to honour, John Shipp, by excellence the brave, was struggling from drummer to squire, from corporal to private—from private to corporal to sergeant—until at length, having led Four Forlorn Hopes, and received sundry wounds, he obtained the small distinction of a Lieutenantcy. * * * All the world will read the life of John Shipp with pleasure.—To us its perusal has been peculiarly delightful."—Spectator.

- 5142 SHIPP'S (John) Military Bijou, or the Contents of a Soldier's Knapsack during Thirty-three Years' Active Service, 2 vols. 8vo. hf. calf gilt, 4s. 6d. (pub. £1. 1s.) 1831

- As the "Memoirs" embrace a period of about fifteen years, in which were traced the causes which led to the "decline and fall" of her Ladyship's somewhat visionary Empire in the East, the "Travels" take up her history from the time she quitted England, and, by a faithful narrative of her extraordinary adventures, show the rise and growth of her Oriental greatness. A distinct line may at once be drawn between this and all other books of travels in the East—for it boasts of a heroine who marches at the head of Arab tribes through the Syrian Desert—who calls Governors of Cities to her aid while she excavates the earth in search of hidden treasures—who sends Generals with their troops to carry fire and sword into the fearful passes of a mountainous country to avenge the death of a murdered traveller—and who then goes defenceless and unprotected to sit down a sojourner in the midst of them.

"Our golden age did not begin before the seventeenth century, and then with him who has never since been rivalled in grace, humour, and invention. Walton's Complete Angler, published in 1653, seems by the title a strange choice out of all the books of half a century; yet its simplicity, its sweetness, its natural grace, and happy inter-mixture of graver strains with the precepts of angling, have rendered this book deservedly popular, and a model which one of the most famous among our late philosophers, and a successful disci-ple of Isaac Walton in his favourite art (Sir Humphrey Davy) has condescended to imitate."—Hallam's Lit. Hist.

Warburton was a kind of comet which came athwart the system of the church. His master faculty was reason, and his master science theology. His writings take their place at the head not only of English theology, but almost of English literature; combining the erudition of Hooker and Stillingfleet, the acuteness of Locke and Chillingworth, the imagination of Taylor, and the wit of Swift and Echard.
